Martha Uhey, Director

Everyday in the Stanley Music Department we expect miracles to happen. One day last year, Martha Uhey became one of our miracles. For more than 30 years Martha taught music in the public schools of California. She is a professional flutist who has travelled the world performing with various groups. For the past year and a half she has been volunteering her time with our students. At the end of school last year, she asked if we would be interested in having a “flute choir” at Stanley. The answer, of course, was a resounding “YES!” With Martha’s connections and generous donation, along with funding from LPIE, The Generations in Jazz Foundation and two other anonymous donors, we were able to purchase four of the unique instruments you see being played here today – two bass flutes and two alto flutes. The choir has quickly become popular with both students and adults!
